

What to expect at the CN Tower

Welcome

Bienvenue

The CN Tower is a lot of fun, but it can be loud and you may have to stand in lines so bring some tools along to help make this a fun outing!

Noise cancelling headphones for when it gets loud.

Bring some fidgets or squishies for when you need to stand in line.

When you see this sign you know you are at the right place!

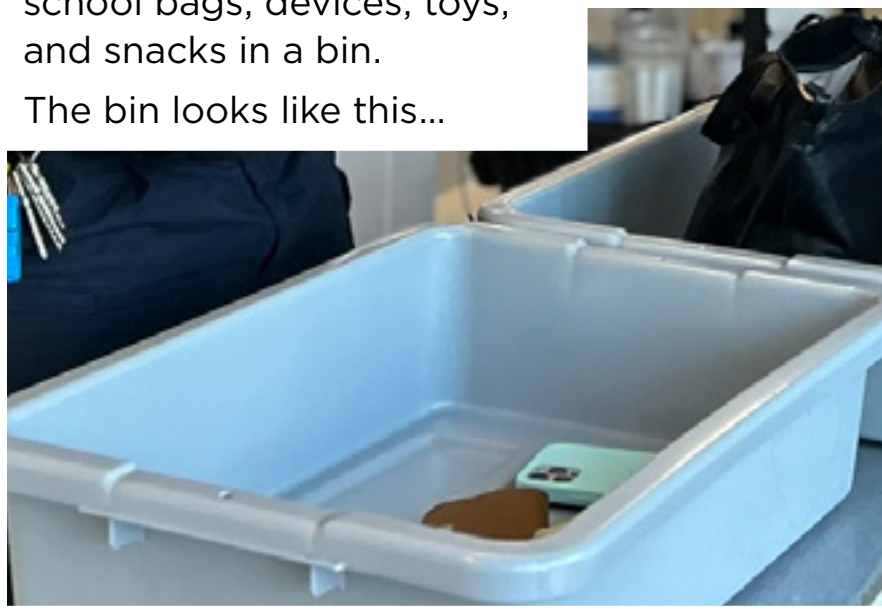

When you first arrive there is a line to get through security.

Security is there to keep everyone safe.

You will put your stuff, like school bags, devices, toys, and snacks in a bin.

The bin looks like this...

Your stuff that you put in the bins will be given to the security guards who will check them and put them through a machine.

The security guards are friendly, and will help you if you need help!

Next you will walk through the security scanner.
The scanner may make a noise. If it makes a noise don't worry that happens all the time.

If the scanner makes a noise the security guard may ask you a question or two to make sure you are safe.

After you pass through the Security building, you'll be back outside, in a covered space. Turn left and walk a short distance to the doors of the Welcome Centre entrance.

When you get into the building you may have to stand in a line to enter.

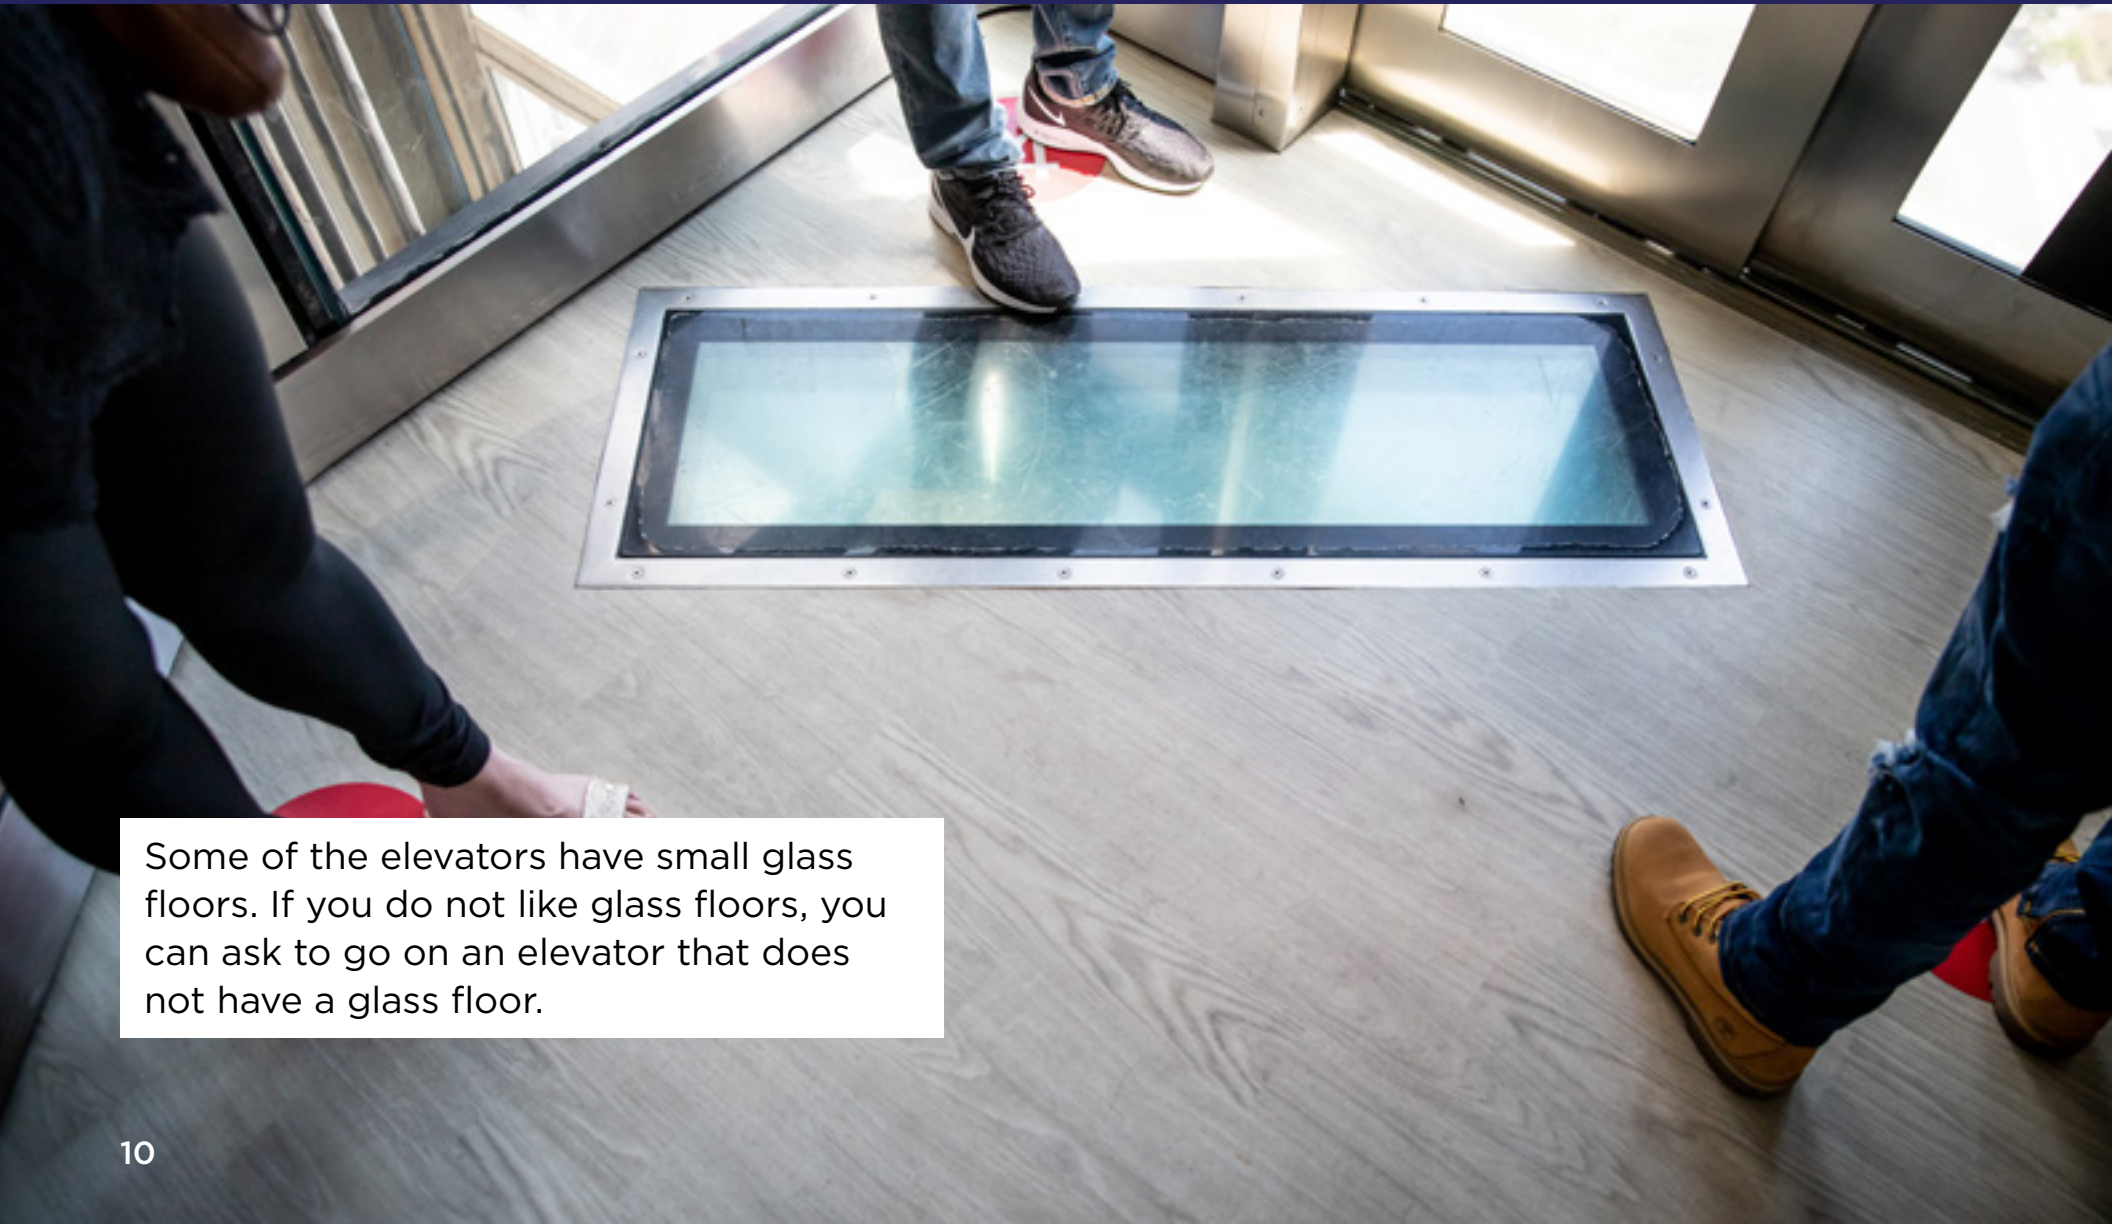

Remember your fidgets in case you need to stand in line.

When you get inside there is lots of stuff around and lots of different colours and noises. This may be a good time to put on your head phones.

Next you will stand in a line to get on an elevator.

Some of the elevators have small glass floors. If you do not like glass floors, you can ask to go on an elevator that does not have a glass floor.

After the elevator ride you will be up very high!
There will be a staff member on the elevator if you have any questions.

You will be able to look out the windows and see so much!

If you want to go even higher you can check out the Top. You may have to stand in another line before boarding the Top elevator.

When you get off the Top elevator you will climb up some steps and then you will be as high as you can be!

When you finish seeing everything you may want to end your CN Tower adventure with a trip to the gift shop. We hope you have a great day at the CN Tower!
